

Supply Chain Due Diligence Policy

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC DBA Sibanye-Stillwater is firmly committed to ensuring that any metals sourced in our supply chain for manufacturing products or materials received by Abington Reldan Metals, LLC are done in an ethical and humane manner. As part of our supply chain due diligence, as well as our intention to establish long-term relationships with our immediate suppliers, we shall be mindful and assess the severity necessary of risks as defined in Annex II of the Organization of Economic Co-operation and Development Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas Third Edition (OECD Guidance) and Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act.

Our commitment includes but is not limited to avoiding any metals that may be associated with:

- Serious abuses associated with the extraction, transport, or trade of minerals:
 - Any forms of torture, cruel, inhuman, and degrading treatment
 - Any forms of forced, compulsory labor
 - The worst forms of child labor
 - Other gross human rights violations and abuses, such as widespread sexual violence
 - War crimes or other serious violations of international humanitarian law, crimes against humanity, or genocide
 - Excluding any direct or indirect support to state and non-state armed groups and/or illegally acting public or private security forces;
- Avoiding contributing to any conflict;
- Complying with anti-money laundering (Abington Reldan Metals, LLC) standards;
- Complying with standards on combatting the financing of terrorism (CFT);
- Ensuring the payment of taxes, fees, and royalties due to governments;
- Avoiding bribery and fraudulent misrepresentation of the origin of precious metals;

To ensure compliance with our commitment to a "non-conflict affected" and OECD-aligned supply chain, Abington Reldan Metals, LLC has integrated the following due diligence protocols for analyzing and assessing our suppliers;

Systematically perform enhanced due diligence practices, including the Know Your Customer process, following a risk-based approach; screening of counterparties against sanctions and terrorist lists, looking at the supplier and country of origin: infrastructure, governance, financial stability, high-risk CFT jurisdictions and human rights practices and regulations before entering a business relationship with any precious metals supplier. To prevent or mitigate the risk of direct or indirect support to public or private security forces, as identified, appropriate scrutiny and monitoring of the transactions undertaken through the course of the relationship and of the governance structures in place to prevent any risk of illegal activities. Implementing this management strategy allows Abington Reldan Metals, LLC to identify and manage risks. Abington Reldan Metals, LLC requires international traders and local exporters to provide proof of payment of taxes/payments, mineral origin, and import/export information for suppliers and materials with identified red flags. Any counterparty with identified red flags will require enhanced due diligence including risk-based site visits. Abington Reldan Metals, LLC commits to a review of the supply due diligence process by a qualified independent auditor annually for effectiveness and to explore and implement possible improvements to our strategy.

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC provides, and expects our suppliers to cooperate in providing, due diligence information to confirm gold in our supply chain does not contribute to illegal armed groups, human rights violations, or financial wrongdoings as defined in Annex II of OECD Guidance. Aim to establish long-term relationships with our immediate suppliers. Consider ways to support and build capacities of gold-supplying counterparties to improve performance and confirm this supply chain policy. Commit to transparency in implementing this policy by making reports on our progress available to our customers, relevant stakeholders, and the public (as required).

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC will not enter into any business relationship or immediately suspend or discontinue engagement with precious metals supplying counterparties supplying precious metals where we identify a reasonable risk that they are sourcing from, or are linked to, any party committing serious abuses as defined in the commitment above, including non-compliance with anti-money laundering standards; and on-compliance with combating the financing of terrorism (CFT). Abington Reldan Metals, LLC will report to authorities, where required. Abington Reldan Metals, LLC intention is also to engage the Counterparty to ascertain the circumstances of identified risks and violations, how the Counterparty has handled these (through mitigation and remedy actions), and how the Counterparty has introduced reasonable control measures to prevent and better mitigate such risks in the future.

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC will not tolerate direct or indirect support from non-state armed groups through the extraction, transport, trade, handling, or export of precious metals. This includes but is not limited to procuring precious metals from, making payments, or otherwise providing logistical assistance or equipment to non-state armed groups or their affiliates who:

- a) Illegally control mine sites or otherwise control transportation routes, points where precious metals are traded and upstream participants in the supply chain; and/or
- b) illegally tax or extort money or precious metals at points of access to mine sites, along transportation routes, or at points where precious metals are traded; and/or
- c) illegally tax or extort intermediaries, export companies, or international traders.

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC will not offer, promise, give, or demand bribes and will resist the solicitation of bribes to conceal or disguise the origin of precious metals or to misrepresent taxes, fees, and royalties paid to governments for precious metals extraction, trade, handling, transport, and export.

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC commits to supporting the implementation of the principles and criteria of the Extractive Industry Transparency Initiative (EITI).

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC will adequately store and maintain all records and documentation relating to the precious metals supply chain to demonstrate that appropriate and ongoing due diligence has been followed.

Abington Reldan Metals, LLC commits to meaningful stakeholder engagement, including accepting and acting on complaints or recommendations to improve our due diligence program. Abington Reldan Metals, LLC, conducts due diligence management training once a year for stakeholders.

Should any party have a recommendation, concern, or reason to believe that Abington Reldan Metals, LLC should be notified of any suspicious activity regarding the circumstances of mineral extraction, trade, handling, or export, they can report it directly to compliance@reldan.com or the Sibanye Stillwater Tips hotline at 1-800- 317- 0287 (US operations). This tips hotline can be used anonymously without fear of retaliation to report all unethical behavior, such as fraud, corruption, illegal mining, responsible sourcing concerns, product theft, theft of company property, clocking fraud, copper theft or theft of explosives.

Finally, Abington Reldan Metals, LLC commits to OECD Due Diligence Guidance Five-Step Framework and the Gold Supplement and publishes and makes publicly available an annual due diligence report to include the following:

1. Third-Party Assessment Summary
2. Company Supply Chain Policy
3. Company Management System
4. Risk Identification
5. Risk Mitigation

Sincerely,

Michael Randolph, Senior Vice President